Hail to thee, O Euclid High School
To thy name all praise we sing.
Happy days of youthful pleasure,
Learning, living, life so dear,
Our hearts fill with gratitude
For all that is to be;
Alma Mater Euclid High School,
All our praise we sing to thee.

Where the blue of Erie's waters
Casts the sun's bright golden rays,
There all Euclid's sons and daughters
Sing the joys of student days
If after days be dark and drear,
And storms of life draw nigh,
The memories of our friendships here
Will lift our hearts to Euclid High.

NEW HORIZONS

At the beginning of each school year, many students, whether they're taking chemistry, biology, foreign languages, or typing, ask themselves why am I taking this class? Walking through the halls day after day, test after test, these students constantly ask that question, hoping someday someone will answer back. However, sooner or later the question fades away and the student starts experiencing the new horizons which come about when a bad first impression becomes a fun experience.

Many times, a new horizon can mean a new career which has been found through experience, or just something you never thought you would try and you did. It can be learning a new song and dance in varsity chorale or going to your first day of high school. Whatever the case is, a new chapter of life has been written which will live in your memory forever.

STUDENT LIFE

Life in high school is a double sided coin. One side, there's serious academics and on the other there's wild activities and fun times. At Euclid students are able to enjoy a blend of many classes and events. Students could take college prep, honors and advanced placement classes, and facilities such as the AV center, library, and computer lab aided in student studies. Most students, however, would rather participate in the fun things associated with high school. Students could participate in a wide variety of sports, from golfing and swimming to football and track. Dances, football games, and the bonfire rally were big events that many students attended to show their school spirit. Other students found their niches in clubs and organizations like AFS, student council, and key club. The students of '88 were a wild and crazy bunch of many ideas, goals, and attitudes.

Strutting Their Stuff

Students show what's 'in' in the fashion world

This year's fashion at Euclid was "washed out". The pre-dominant fad on the scene was denim. Whether stone washed or acid washed or just pastel, this once true western craze spread and branded Panther fashion. Short sweaters returned somewhat and the minis were strong once again. Safari made its way on a possible last roaring performance and the new trends included Spuds MacKenzie T-shirts and tags appearing outside collars. Swatches seemed to be everywhere, with an ever increasing number of kinds. With jewelry, the phrase "anything goes" applied. Reebok's reign persisted as granny boots and flats took over for girls. Colorful socks were worn to match.

It seemed it was a year of flash-backs for fashion. Popular trends echoed the footsteps of fads of decades past and although some Panthers did not stay with the "in" styles, they showed their own class with individual uniqueness in dress. Heidi Martin

Euclid's Student's Jobs

Students by day, moonlighting as employees by night

As if the loads of homework weren't enough, many Euclid students face the added joy of going to work after school. This didn't really make your day, first listening to the teachers scream, then your grumpy boss yelling at the slightest thing, but it was worth it when Friday rolled around and your hand was full with the fruits of your labor. Namely, the paycheck. Although everyone would prefer more than what they got, the measly little check did look pretty good when compared to asking mommy or daddy for money before going out.

In the positive sense, jobs gave a feeling of accomplishment and pride. A strong sense of responsibility came with a job which was hard to learn anywhere else. Students learned a lot from early employment that prepared them for future jobs of higher importance.

Most Euclid students were found working in the Euclid area in such places as Dave's Supermarket and Bernie Shulman's. It was also hard to walk through the Mall without spotting a fellow student hard at work in one of the many stores. As bluntly put by some working students, "Work is dissapointing but in the end, the money makes it all worth while".

Wet 'n Wild

Rain fails to dampen enthusiasm of Homecoming game and dance.

The rain that fell couldn't dampen spirits at the 1987 Homecoming game. It was an encore of last year's Homecoming, sending the fans under the bleachers until the rain subsided. The football team managed a respectable 20 to 3 victory over North in the driving storm. After the game, hundreds of fans stuck out the deluge to see the Homecoming queen and her court announced. Reigning queen Kristi Scott passed her crown to the new queen Jeanine Oblak. The senior attendants were Shileshe McCoy and Adriane Conklin. The junior attendant was Nina Valencic. The sophomore attendant was Christine Oblak. There wasn't alot of pomp but there was the release of 1988 blue and gold balloons, a high flying salute to the senior class and to the Euclid Panthers. -Adam Stauffer

A TRIP TO THE ORIENT

Homecoming Night with a Touch of China

For an all out too short evening on October 4th, 1987, the E-room was transformed into "A Night in the Orient" Homecoming '87 was filled with images of the Far East - pagodas, oriental fans, and a running brook surrounded by lush greenery. This year's first couples dance, it was also one of Student Council's largest drawings ever with over 330 couples in attendance. Senior Michelle Valencic was "very impressed by the tasty refreshments" which included shrimp cocktail and egg rolls. There was even a Homecoming "takeout package" with fortune cookies and a surprise fortune in each one. Everyone had a good fortune and a good time at this year's Homecoming Dance.

We Have Spirit

The spirit was high in Euclid this year. All you have to do is take a look down one of the halls. You will see students showing their school pride through clothing, buttons, and signs. Blue and gold days gave students a chance to show their support through Panther spirit wear.

Pep assemblies were changed and put after homeroom, but that did not stop school spirit. The great sport teams made these events even better. We supported our teams and players through all the highs and lows, showing everyone what a spirited school we have.

Home Sweet Home

More than just a place for books

It's September 2, 1987, the first day of school, and the first thing you come upon is an ugly, green and brown locker that makes you nauseous. Besides its nasty appearance, it also devises thousands of ways to annoy students, such as refusing to close, jamming, slamming its door on your fingers, and letting the handle fall off. What can students do to prevent this locker abuse? One way students found to fight the terrible fiends was to decorate them with pictures of rock stars, pets, animals, friends, and gorgeous men and women. Others put mirrors on their lockers so they could vainly admire themselves between classes, and some put up notepads for communication and shelves for extra storage space. Besides this, students also decorated the outside of lockers with "Happy Birthday" messages. All in all, lockers are student's 'homes away from home.' Lockers offered students the chance to express who they are and what they're interested in with artistic decorations. They're also a great place to throw books and other unwanted things.

Halloween Spirit

Students show off their creative costumes

If for one day during the school year you see ghosts, witches, flashers, even the Statue of Liberty, roaming through the halls of Euclid High School, don't be alarmed. That day could only be Halloween, sometimes the only time all year where students really want to come to school. It doesn't matter how you get a costume, or where you got it from, just as long as you had a good one. Of course, some, like the 'Mac Tonight' of commercial fame, are better than others, but any costume will get you candy when you're trick or treating on Halloween night. Who says high school students aren't smart? They found out this way to get free candy, didn't they?

-Doug Matiaska

Moonlit Magic

Dancing under the stars and a plethora of hor d'oeuvres made this year's Valentine's Ball on February 13th truly a night of "Moonlit Magic".

The magic was seen in over 2000 helium filled balloons which suspended sparkling stars and hearts above the dance floor. White columns with captions of greenery and clouds lined the walls and created an atmosphere of elegance and simplicity. Inside the E-room a disk jockey played all of the favorite songs while outside the E-room a roving violinist supplied mood music for the couples. The food was up to the high quality that has been associated with Student Council dances and included roast beef being cut by a chef. The usual memory pictures were taken of the couples. More than 250 couples were in attendance and had a wonderful time.

The King, Queen and Court was announced at 9:15 to a packed house. The Queen was Michelle Valencic and members of her court were Karen Kosmerl, Nicole Molnar and Patty Neligan. The King was Todd Uhlir and his court consisted of Rich Kekic, Mike Ball and Dan Newman.

Special thanks go to Student Council and especially Miss. Bambic for another fine evening.

Marching To A Different Beat

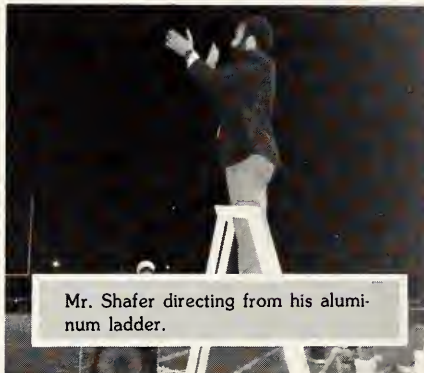

Euclid's marching band keeps the music lively

The year started off in a great big bang when the whistle blew and everyone ran into line. Headed by the band's director Bill Shafer and Dave Viglione the marching band season was called into line in the middle of August. Marching rudiments in the sun, realizing that there are only eight steps to one yard played a big importance in a practice. Making circles, squares, and staight lines made up a Friday night show. Throughout the season, the marching band participated in the Wolly Bear Festival, the Festival of the Bands, which was held in the stadium downtown, and they cheered on the football team at every game. The band played for an Indians Baseball Game and hopes to get involved with more shows and participate in more events such as these. Mr. Shafer and Mr. Viglione encouraged the traveling for experience and getting those Euclid colors on top of the best. The band sold fudge and candy which raised enough money for new uniforms, for the band. The uniforms were to be worn, hopefully in the Memorial Day Parade if not during the band concert, at the end of the year. They our ready now and their excitement will carry for next year, for they are coming in style and in good sound, to cheer on the football team all the way, and to put the blue and gold on the map!

Twirling Around

The 1987-88 Majorettes enjoyed another successful season as Euclid's "Golden Girls". Led by captain, Kellie Koren, the majorettes participated in eleven pre-game and half time shows. In addition, they participated in a Cleveland Indians Game, the Vermillion Wolly Bear Parade, the G.C.C. Tournament, and the Euclid Memorial Day Parade along with the Marching Band.

This season was special as three of the Majorettes were the first four-year Majorettes in the history of Euclid High School. Captain Kellie Koren, Diane Hodnichak, and Teresa Yuhas acted as "big sisters" to the three freshman on the team, Coleen Bradach, Lisa Riedel, and Jennifer Beck. They spent a lot of time practicing, marching, and twirling their batons. Many memories were made this year. This year was the greatest football season ever for the Euclid Panthers.

Flag Corps lends grace to football halftimes

If you've ever seen a half-time performance at a Euclid football game, you've undoubtedly noticed the flags twirling in perfect synchronization. That's the Flag Corps led on the field by co-captains Vicki Jaworsky and Cindy Kleckner. The girls on the team practice every night during the football season and fourth and fifth periods. According to three year member Stacy Hamilton, "Sometimes you just don't feel like going to practice, but Mrs. Houchins makes sure you're there so you look good on Friday night." Flag Corps has given an opportunity for more students to participate in school activities.

Have We Got Musical Talent

Concert Band takes over after football season

Concert band is made up of musicians who, after the conclusion of the marching band season, work hard and practice for the annual winter and spring concerts each year. With the band directors, Dave Viglione and William Shafer, the band did plan to attend the OMEA cotest last year for the first time. This band prepares the students for more study and musical achievement which will promote them to a spot on symphonic wind ensemble.

The start of a new tradition for Euclid's concert band will be the best musical achievement to Euclid's music program.

The 1987-88 Symphonic Wind Ensemble was one of the best ever. The director was William Shafer and under his direction many of the members were expected to participate in the annual district OMEA contest.

Members of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble were chosen by audition. Each person was required to perform an assigned piece of music. In addition to the audition, there was also a sight reading piece which had to be performed. The musicians were ranked on the basis of their auditions. The best musicians were chosen from each section and became members of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble.

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble performed concerts in February and in May.

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble hoped to attain its highest goals this year since they were familiar with the director that they've had for the past two years. A significant part of this year's program was the acquisition of new band uniforms.

Producing Those Great Instrumental Sounds

Orchestra allows students to display their musical talents

From 10:30 to 11:15 was a time when rosin flew and the fun began for members of the Euclid High School orchestra. There were only 38 members this year and almost half of the orchestra was composed of band members. Rehearsals for just orchestra were every day but every Tuesday and Thursday was a full rehearsal. In the full rehearsals there were not only the strings but the brass, the woodwinds and the percussions.

The orchestra performed three times during the year. The first performance was the Christmas concert, then the Winter concert and finally the Spring concert. Orchestra members also played in the pit for Big Show.

Helen Chen was the president of Orchestra while Heidi Martin was vice president and Kim Miller and Maureen DeJong were the librarians.

1988 was a "new" year for the "old" Jazz Band of Euclid High School. With their new director, Mr. William Shafer, the jazz band toured Boston, Connecticut and New York. On March 4 they traveled to the Lakeland Jazz Festival and had a great blow out session as usual. Mr. Shafer taught the group how to improvise and gain control of their own styles of playing. The Euclid Jazz Band had many seniors this year so there will have to be new talent entering to make next year's band as alive as this year's was. Don't worry Euclid, Jazz Band will be back and swinging in style.

Euclid's Song And Dance

Varsity Chorale is a combination of singing and dancing

Do you remember the songs; Varsity Drag, Doctor Doom, Everybody Loves My Baby, and Muddy Water from the brand new Broadway hit musical Big River? Well, these were only a few of the songs performed by the 1987-88 Euclid Varsity Chorale.

This year's group was uniquely different from all previous groups since it consisted of twice as many girls as boys.

Every year tryouts were held for the members of Choral Masters. Each individual was judged on his/her singing, dancing, and dramatic ability.

This year only seven members returned from last year's group. The rest was made up of sophomores and juniors and two seniors. This year they travelled to New York, Boston and Connecticut.

Lots Of Cheer

Football cheerleaders really show their spirit

The football cheerleaders showed their talent since the beginning of the season. At camp, the varsity cheerleaders were awarded the Excellence Plaque, the J.V. squad won Top Squad, the highest award given, and all three of the squads, varsity, J.V., and Freshman, were awarded the Spirit Award.

With their cheeriness and pep they kept up the spirit throughout the season. Every Wednesday, the cheerleaders stayed after school and painted signs to help everyone get psyched up for the games. On Friday's the varsity cheerleaders gave the football players a little something, such as a twinkie with a sign saying "Cream 'em!", to help the players get even more psyched and to show them that they really cared. They cheered through all the games even when it was freezing cold. They cheered on the football players with great pep and big smiles.

It was that kind of talent and spirit that the cheerleaders promoted that helped the football team have such a successful season.

Cheerleading was a great thing to be involved in. There was a wide range of activities that were a part of the program. From summer practices, to camp, carwashes, after-school practices, and the games themselves, the girls really became a team. They learned how to be a good cheerleader and also a good person. They learned to understand other's ideas and decisions and gained a sense of responsibility. All cheerleading squads should have this willingness to work hard at camp where Euclid won both of the only two trophies given.

Kristin Schoen and Danielle DeSico said "Our coach, Mrs. Yuhas, makes the games a lot of fun and practices more bearable." As they pointed out, the girls relationship with their coach was important and it was something they really appreciated.

Euclid's cheerleading program has shown the girls a lot of things, both good and bad. They felt that all the girls worked hard and always will be happy that they were apart of the Euclid High Cheerleading Program.

Student Democracy

Our voice is heard through Student Council

The student council was a group of student representatives who met weekly to further school spirit and foster community service. They provided a bridge to discuss student needs and relay them to the faculty. The club consisted of about seventy fun loving members who together sponsor Homecoming, dances, the Valentine Ball, the Community Halloween Party, and much, much more.

The officers on this year's council were: Adam Stauffer, President, Val Stupica, Vice President/Finance mgr., and Kim Porten, Vice President/Business mgr. They worked to direct the energies of the Council and get jobs done efficiently. The officers also plan meetings, control correspondence, and work hard.

The faculty advisor for the Student Council was Miss Sandi Bambic, and she was the real backbone behind the club. "I don't see how the Student Council could function without Miss Bambic's support and ideas," said Jim Samuel, a four year council veteran.

So that was Student Council -- a combination of students, spirit, and the right faculty adviser to make everyone in Euclid High School a little happier and a little more spirited.

Kathie Davis and Shawn Kobus with some friends at Key Club International.

Believe it or not, Key Club has been in Euclid High School for 38 years, but yet many people were still not aware of what happened in this very unique organization.

Key Club, in gernal, was an organization which was sponsored by the local Kiwanis clubs in the area, made up of high school students, and helped with school and community activities. What did that man for Euclid? The Key Club at Euclid did many things for the school such as guiding and setting up for open house. They assisted in the Special Olympics in their swimming and bowling events.

This year's officers included Kathie Davis, president, Tracey Baranowski, 1st vice-president, Keith McClurkin, 2nd vice-president, Jim Segulin, secretary, and Sue Schilling, treasurer. They contributed to the outstanding year that the club had.

Key Club was for those interested in helping others. As Tracey Baranowski has said, "It's a lot of work, but the satisfaction you receive more than balances out the work."

Classes Have Organization

Class cabinets are responsible for organizing class activities

Prom was a very important time in the lives of seniors everywhere. At Euclid the senior class cabinet was faced with the task of organizing and making that night a special one for all.

This year's senior cabinet was composed of 13 members of the senior class who were elected to that position or placed there because of their superior service. They met during homeroom and went over plans with advisors, Miss Harris, Mr. Perez and Mr. McGuinness. In addition to Prom, the cabinet also chose graduation announcements and planned the senior luncheon. Dances, flower sales, Senior Talent Night and Prom Aid were all organized to raise money for those events.

The hard work and effort of this year's cabinet resulted in a fun and memorable senior year for everyone. The members continued to encourage school spirit and class involvement with the class of '88.

The Junior Class Cabinet was made up of 40 eager students who were elected by their peers. For the first time, they were given their own homeroom. They successfully won the canned food drive and the Christmas decoration competition. Also there was a fabulous Christmas dance as well as a spring dance. A major concern of this fund raising was to help defray costs for prom.

Leading this enthusiastic and talented group were Mrs. Fox and Mr. Russo. The class of '89 was overflowing with spirit in preparation for their senior year. The cabinet definitely left its mark as a group ready to lead Euclid High.

Academic And Extracurricular Excellence

National Honor Society is for students with excellent records in service

National Honor Society was a nation-wide organization that was composed of students selected for their scholarship, service, and leadership abilities. In 1988, Euclid's NHS, unlike past years, made itself known. The group was composed of seniors who were selected at the end of their junior year. They met approximately once a month to plan their activities. A major project for the year was tutoring 5th and 6th graders at Forest Park. One day a week members would travel to the school and help the kids in such subjects as math, science, and spelling. Another project was being "Student Guides" for Open House. Members were stationed in the east gym and cafeteria and helped parents locate teachers. NHS also selected two students, Shawn Kobus and Adam Stauffer to try for the NHS scholarship.

Mrs. Schmeling was the group's advisor and Tim Belavich was the president. Aiding them were Terri Schmeling as secretary and Julie Barcza as treasurer.

The group's most important activity was the induction of new members at the end of the year. All in all, it was a terrific year for the members of the National Honor Society.

Three For The Price Of One

The short plays had humor, mystery and drama

This year's Fall Play offered a different sort of experience, having three extremely enjoyable plays instead of one - a mystery, drama and comedy.

"Trifles", written by Susan Glaspell revolved around the strangling death of a man, and the search for evidence by County Attorney Henderson and Sheriff Peters. They beared witness to defense for the wife of the dead man by Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Hall as well as an account of the day of the murder by Mr. Hall. Cast included Nancy Cook, Tina Soltesz, Dan Geddes, Bill Castrovine and Greg Sedmak.

Following them came "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" by J. M. Barrie. During World War I, a London charwoman, Mrs. Dowey, pretended to have a son, to fit in with her friends, Mrs. Mickleham, Mrs. Tully and Mrs. Haggerty. The twist came when the Reverend brought her assumed son to her home. Beth Hammer, Tom Kermode, Heidi Martin, Katie Roach, Michele Meyers and Todd Trevarthan were in the cast.

The modern comedy "Louder, I Can't Hear You" by Bill Gleason wrapped up the evening. Marge Brown faced a dilemma familiar to mothers everywhere - being ignored. She desired the attention of daughters Ann and Butch and husband Oscar. A visit to the psychiatrist, Dr. Phillips leaves her problems unsolved. Cast included Brinda Kumar, Rob Johnson, Gina Midolo, Missy Long, Tom Kermode and Holly Pirsig.

Invaluable was the help backstage from Liz Oroz and Mary Sweet and lighting crew Curt O'Neal and Jon Holmes. Of course, without the patience and loving direction from Mrs. McLaughlin and student director Tina Ilc the shows wouldn't have succeeded.

Helping Others And Learning Languages

Peer tutors help classmates who are having trouble in class

Many students through the year have found that some of their classes were too difficult or too challenging to tackle without help from someone else. These students were able to sign up for a peer tutor to help them in every subject. Peer tutors were selected by their teachers on their knowledge of certain subjects or their special skills. Tutors met with their tutees during study halls, lunch periods, and after school to help them with their work. The program was headed by Miss Spiga, and so far it has been a success.

Tutors were requested mostly in the fields of algebra and geometry, and also in chemistry and physical science. Some of the less requested subjects were English, history, and foreign languages. The program has proved to be a good idea, and many students, tutors and tutees, have benefitted from it.

The Foreign Language Club was a group of students who were interested in experiencing different cultures. They attended different events around Cleveland such as the ballet, and they went out to dinner at ethnic restaurants such as Chi-Chi's and The Haufbrahaus. They also celebrated a German Christmas party. Besides these activities, the group was also interested in traveling to Montreal over spring break, taking a tour of downtown Cleveland, and going to sporting events like the Cavs and the Force. The advisor of the group was Mrs. Hodgins, and David Mann was the president. The club proved to be a very enriching experience for the members, and as one member put it, "a great way to learn about people and cultures different from myself".

Expanding Your Cultural Background

President's Club exposes students to culture

Meetings of deep thought and laughter.

President's Club opened the door to diversity. At first thought, one may have thought the members of the President's Club planned to run for the White House. But, no, that was not the main intention of the group. It's aim was to introduce new and exciting fields of life other than the usual 'Leave it to Beaver' reruns and 'Mad' magazines. The President's Club members participated in new dimensions of culture by attending performances usually ignored by the common teen-age student.

This year's leaders, Tina Soltesz and Tina Ilc had big plans for the 1987-88 President's Club. Events planned included attending such plays as the "Nutcracker", the "Marriage of Figaro", "West Side Story" and other theatrical greats in Cleveland.

The President's Club was open to anyone who was looking for something new. If everyday life got too tedious you just might have been able to find a cultural side of yourself that you never thought you had.

Making The Audio, Visual

Media Aides deliver learning aides to the classroom

Many Euclid High School events such as Big Show, Senior Talent Night, and choral concerts were often glamorous and exciting productions, and the actors and singers always got high praise. But who were the people behind the scenes that made the production possible? They were the Media Aides, a valuable group of students who were headed by Mr. Allen Black. The A.V. men were responsible for sound and lighting jobs which were often overlooked as being simple in the big productions. Without the dedication of those students, though, the shows would not have gone on. The Audio/Visual Department was also responsible for delivering overheads, cassette players, VCR's and movie projectors to teachers. The Media Aides were a great asset to Euclid High School.

Office And Athletic Business

AD Club and Office Aides help out in the business of athletics and school

Ever wonder how the lucky people were chosen to sit in that little window at all of Euclid's sporting events? Those 'lucky people' are members of AD Club. The AD Club's (Athletic Department Club) purpose was to sell the tickets that allow you into all of Euclid's athletic events. Not only is it fun, it taught the business of athletics. The advisor of the Ad Club was Mr. Raicevich.

Your're sitting in your most boring class. The minutes are dragging like an old muffler, and your've got half an hour of class remaining. But just as you've given up hope, an angel comes into the room. An Office Aide. You know who they are. They do your unit office's chores to keep it moving smoothly. You're referred to the office, given a day in the hole, and your day had been ruined. That class didn't look so bad now did it?

Going For The Snow

How did seventy-five students enjoy winter more than lots of others? They joined Ski Club. Why would anyone want to slide down a pile of snow? At first it seems so redundant...up and down, up and down. "It seems that way until you try it" exclaimed Ketan Patel. "After that you find that each run is unlike all the others. You are constantly finding new ways down." "It really makes winter a lot more fun" said Michelle Newcomb. Skiing is a very fast growing sport.

Ski Club gave students an opportunity to learn to ski. It was especially suited for beginners since everyone was expected to take lessons to improve their abilities. It was most suited to students who did not know anyone who skied. They got a chance to be with classmates who were similar in experience. They were able to go off and be with their friends.

Ski Club went to Boston Mill Ski Area on Thursday evenings. They also went skiing to Cockaigne Ski Area in New York on Martin Luther King Day. The New York trip was "kinda wet...but it still was a lot of fun" as Matt Mazzei put it

The school's newspaper, The Survey, was a great success this year. The editors were Kimi Masterson and Brinda Kumar, who were aided by a number of assistant editors, reporters, and photographers.

The paper kept the students up to date on current issues and events. The Survey also allowed students to speak their minds and hear what their peers had to say.

All The News That's Fit To Print

Survey's job is to get the news to the school

An excellent feature of the paper was "Soapbox" which was an article devoted to a current topic of concern, such as AIDS. The final edition of the paper each year was devoted mostly to seniors. "Senior Scandal" is printed, along with seniors most embarrassing moments, goodbyes, and last will and testaments. All in all, the paper was a terrific way for students to communicate their ideas, concerns, and complaints.

Selecting The Literature's Finest

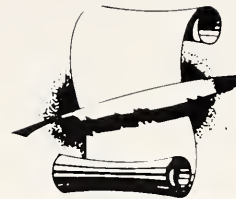

Eucuyo prints the 'creme de la crop'

One of the best kept secrets of 1988 was the Eucuyo, Euclid High's own literary magazine, which was composed of prose, poetry, and artwork by creative EHS students. It was published and sold at the end of the year.

In 1988, Miss Carmody and Mrs. Lidrbach advised the staff on poetry and prose, and Dr. Araca advised them on artwork. The student editor was Julie Sterbank, and her assistant was Beth Perdan. The staff met every other week to review works submitted by students or their English teachers. The works were ranked, and those receiving the highest praise were selected to be in Eucuyo. Ranking was done anonymously, to assure that favoritism was not a factor in selecting the best works.

The magazine was a way for aspiring artists and future writers to show off their talents, and a way for them to experience the thrill of being published for the first time.

Hopefully this endeavor will continue at Euclid High in the coming years, enriching students and staff with up-and-coming artists and literary geniuses.

Unless you have worked on a yearbook you cannot appreciate the amount of time that was necessary to put the book together. Hours of time were spent in deciding what stories should appear and then writing them. Hours and hours were spent taking pictures and sorting pictures so they could be put in the layouts. Looking for a particular picture which you knew was there but didn't know where. The problems experienced when different people worked on the same layout at different times and did it different ways. The constant 'reinventing the wheel' that was always occurring. The hours necessary to make the pictures and copy into a layout that would become a page in the yearbook. All the hundreds of little jobs that had to be done in order to get the book out. This was called a yearbook since it covered the activities that occurred during the 1987-88 school year. But it should also be called a yearbook since it takes years of time to put it together.

Cranking The Pages Out

Euclidian staff put the book together one page at a time

It would be nice to say that there were lots of eager students willingly devoting time to make this book the best ever. However, this was not the case. There were very few people who devoted a lot of time to this book. A few people did a little bit and most people did nothing. It was a difficult job and everyone could think up hundreds of excuses about how they were 'too busy with other things' to work on the yearbook. Anyone wishing to work on the yearbook was always welcome. If anyone wants to work on next year's book they would be more than welcome.

Cooperative Office Education, sponsored by Mrs. Carol Williams, was designed to prepare students for the responsibilities of the business world.

The students used different types of office equipment and office skills to complete their work in an office-like atmosphere. Some of the important factors that they were dealing with were assignments, work periods and deadlines.

With COE, employers and employees worked together to set and achieve important goals. Cooperative Office Education was a professional way to be prepared for the hustle and bustle of the business life.

Euclid's Hall of Fame is where alumni are honored for their contributions and unprecedented achievements in the field of athletics. It was established in the auditorium hallway. The first group of members, inducted back in October of 1987, were Len Sadosky '29, Joe Sintic '29, Frank Montana '39, Frank Skeya '40, "Babe" Lipovec '41, Neal Nelson '43, Bill Kerslake '47, Crayton Mast '50, Bob Marich '50, Stan Intihar '52, Don Visic '53, Joe Nossek '58, Ed Orazen '61, Tom Murphy '63, "Berkie" Reichenbach '63, and Ian Glass '70. Clarence Eckert, Walt Schwegler, Mike Marsh, and former mayor Kenneth Sims were inducted for their influence on Euclid's sports program.

This year, the scope of the Hall of Fame has been broadened by inducting people whose contributions are beyond the norm. Inductees under this category were Sandi Bambic, Pat Buck, Jim Calvert, Audree Fox, Joe Mayer, Don Mohr, Mike Papouras, and Ed Stoch. Three familiar faces in the Hall of Fame are Robert Addis, Justin Antonini, and William McGuinness.

The Euclid Cultural Committee was established to create a balance between the different races at Euclid. Although it attempted to do this, it was not as successful as it could have been. The reason for that was the imbalance of races on the committee itself. Without a variety of backgrounds in the environment one could not expect to learn about different cultures. Education of different cultures was the strongest, most meaningful step that could be taken to combat prejudice and create a harmonious balance within the community. The committee was established for everyone and perhaps in the years to come many more students will participate.

This year's Senior Talent Night was a smashing success. The cast and technical crew put in long hours after school rehearsing to make everything tip top. Acts ranged from The Blues Brothers to the Fat Boys, Varsity Chorale to The Pointer Sisters and trips down memory lane with the slide show. Under the direction of Miss Sandi Bambic and Miss Sue Amato opening night had the crowds screaming for more. Comedy crew also earned their title with skits that had the audience laughing in the aisles. Behind the scenes, however was where the real action took place. Senior Talent Night brought together old friends and was the start of new friendships. The realization of this being our last year together began to sink in. Past disputes were put aside. Raising money for the class fund and prom took precedence. Determination and comradery set in. Along the way, the members of the cast in addition to new friendships gained self satisfaction, a sense of belonging and discovered a new, sometimes surprising, outlook on their classmates, all the while having fun in the process. The senior class joined together to show our school, family, and friends just how great the class of '88 really is. In doing so, they put on what will live in our memories as possibly the best Senior Talent Night ever!

Getting Down To Business

O.O.E.A. is for future business people

If you want to be a secretary, this is the course to take," said Diane Hodnichak. The students learned word processing, typing applications, filing, machine transcription, calculator, and other office skills. The class also went on field trips to observe businesses at work.

The course name will change to office automation next year. Besides the name change, the course will be offered for one year to both juniors and seniors. Upon completion of office automation, a student will be able to work in an entry-level job full time or work in an office part time while attending college.

What in the world was Wai Napolo? Wai Napolo was Euclid's very own synchronized swimming club. The purpose of the club was to put on a synchronized swim show in the beginning of May. This year's theme was S-TV, a spin-off of MTV. This theme allowed for an unlimited selection of music and a more diversified show.

Under the leadership of president, Kim Konrad, vice president, Christine Chinni and show directors, Debbie Miller and Vicky Jaworsky, the club tried out new ideas for the show. As always, things got uptight towards show time but the group pulled together and the end result was a show that was enjoyable for everyone who saw it. Some of the highlights were the solo's, blacklight, prop and, of course, the senior number consisting of Suzanne Warman, Debbie Miller and Christine Chinni. Suzanne Warman said it best, "It's rough being here every morning during spring break and after school for hours of practicing but the show makes it all worth while."

Through a lot of hard work and dedication, the club continued its tradition of providing Euclid with another excellent show.

For a second time, the Euclid High drama club presented a Holiday play. The play was written and directed by English teacher Judy Carmody. "Kringle-Krangle and the Runaway Reindeer" included not only a delightful storyline but also singing and dancing. The play was performed for all second graders as well as for the public.

Disrupting Christmas, the reindeer supervisors forgot to lock up Reindeer Hall and Santa's reindeer escaped. The elves tried to invent alternate ways to keep Christmas on schedule but only with the help of some children and the Grumples-kins could happiness and the reindeer be restored to Toyland.

It starred Beth Hammer as Kringle-Krangle, Heidi Martin and Nicholas DiBartolomeo as the toys, Holly Pirsig, Judy Beder, Curt Spencer, Michelle Bonnay, Greg Sedman and Dave Rosser as the elves, January Jenkins as the babysitter, Kim Moore and India Ford as the children, Kimi Masterson as

Most of the students at Euclid seem pleased with the Administration. The only major change was our new Superintendent of Schools, Carl Hilling. Beginning in January there were also two new school board members, David Lawrence and Kay Van Ho.

The administration on the High School level remained the same with Mr. McGuinness still our much loved principal and Mr. Antonini our Associate Principal. It seems that Mr. Perez is the most popular unit principal since he was fair, spent time with the students, and got to know them.

All of Euclid's administrators have shown in one way or another that they care, and all of them believe that education comes first.

It's been one of those days. Your parents have been in their usual 'Get out of my way' mood. Your teacher wouldn't give you those much needed three points for that much needed 'A' grade. Your best friend is too busy for you. Even the dog treats you like last week's newspaper. You're emotionally distraught and losing hope. Who can you turn to?

Your guidance counselor! You remember them, don't you? They were the smiling ones in your unit office on the first day of school and were the only ones who welcomed you sincerely. Guidance Counselors are there for you in times of need, if you have any questions, or just to talk with.

So the next time you're feeling like a raisin surrounded by a bunch of nuts, you know that your counselor is the one to turn to.

SPORTS

10-0 In The Regular Season

Panthers claw to first undefeated season in school's history

The 1987 Panther varsity football team accomplished its preseason goal and then some. They intended to have a winning season, but what a season it was! When the final gun sounded at the end of the regular season, the Tigers had been decimated, the Invaders conquered, and two waves of Wildcats tamed to nothing but housecats. The Rangers were bushwhacked, the Cardinals shot down, and the Mustangs were corralled. The Rebels were crushed, the Bearcats reduced to cubs, and the Arcs' charge diminished to nothing but a flickering of dim light in the darkness. Finally, for the first time since joining the conference, the mighty Panthers stood alone atop a pile of ravaged opponents as the reigning GCC champion. Then, it was on to the state playoffs. It was very difficult to express the disappointment that the team experienced in their first loss of the year to a very big and physical team from Boardman. Although the final score did not indicate it, the Panthers played a tough game. In the first half, the defense was able to keep their opponent out of the end zone on several occasions. But the offense couldn't manage to get through, around or over the huge Boardman defensive line. In the second half, Boardman managed to control the ball by chipping away at the already tired Panther defense. Again, the Panther offense was unable to penetrate the Spartan defense. So, the team had suffered its first defeat of the year. It was time to hang up the pads for another year.

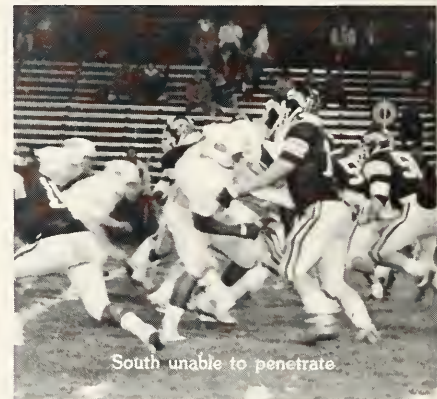

Although their playoff loss was disappointing, the Panthers still had much to be proud of. Many records were set along the way in this magnificent, "perfect" year. It was the first team in the school's history to finish with a perfect 10-0 regular season record. It was the first team to win the GCC title outright. It was the first time a Euclid football team was ever ranked in the Associated Press State Football Poll. They finished in the No. 2 spot in the state. Finally, it was the first football team in the school's history to make the state playoffs. They also broke the record for the number of points scored (284) in a regular season while only giving up 96.

South unable to penetrate.

The great success of the 1987 Panthers could be credited to several things: an excellent coaching staff; an extraordinary effort on the part of all the players; and, last but not least, the cornerstone of any successful team - team unity. The tremendous support and enthusiasm of the loyal Panther fans did not go unnoticed and did much to keep the team up and striving for excellence. The overall effect of these contributions resulted in a high-powered offense and the GCC's stingiest defense.

The senior members of the team set a fine example for all the underclassmen to strive for. It was a young team that should grow in every way.

Soccer team finishes a winning season

The varsity soccer team enjoyed its first winning season under head coach John Gibbons. The team, consisted of mostly underclassmen, had a bright future for the next couple of seasons.

The varsity was led by senior captain Dave Brickman, goalie Dave Wendel, and junior forwards Marko Bartulovic, Damir Cvitkovic, and John Colbert. Brickman was named to the second team G.C.C. and second team News Herald while Wendel also received second team G.C.C. honors. The team's most valuable player, Bartulovic, was selected for first team G.C.C., first team News Herald, and second team GCSSCA. Bill Kunes was named the team's best defensive player and Pete Kostan received the hustler award. The varsity finished fourth in the G.C.C. and is looking forward to next season.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Mike Durbin had a slight let down from the previous season. The team was led by Brent Pockar, who received some help on offense from Mike Bunn. The defense was held together by Leila Thomas and Roger Crombie.

The Freshman soccer team had a promising season under new coach Jim "Sgt." Presot who believed every player should be given a chance to play. The team was led on offense by Steve Burke and on defense by Mark Fifolt.

Spiking the Ball

Varsity Volleyball gets to Regionals

The varsity volleyball team had an exceptional year, as you can clearly see by their seasonal record. They played hard and ended up the regional runner up. The team was excellently coached by Donna Paderewski, who not only helped skill improvement, but also kept team spirits high by her optimistic attitude.

The team worked very well together with Megan Wanderslaben and Meme Vencel as setters, while Lynn Phillips, Terri Sopko, Laura West, Terri Renshaw, and Nicole Molnar completed the successful team with their spiking. Although great setters, it must not be overlooked that when Megan and Meme were not busy setting, their unbelievable spiking power awed the audience. Traci Vanah kept the back row in power. Cheryl Porter, Jeanine Oblak, and Jennifer Kacperski also helped the team achieve success.

The 1987 year was, without a doubt, a satisfying one for the varsity volleyball team and next year's team has a very hard reputation to continue. Team spirit, talented players, and a great coach is what Euclid's 1987 volleyball team had, and is what was needed for such success and great accomplishments.

The junior varsity volleyball team had a rewarding season, which definitely prepared the players for the varsity team next year. It was well coached by Jean Savage and had an overwhelming number of talented players. The team spirit played a big part in the outcome of many games. The players worked very well together with great setting by Jill Enneper, Toni Chiudioni and Cyndy Cramer. There was also a great number of excellent spikers such as: Suzanne Lisac, Kim Watral, Elizabeth Mazzei, Tiffany Tekieli and Lana Seiler. Brandy Reichman played an exceptional all-around as a setter and spiker. This was a good year for the J.V. volleyball team and the best of luck is wished for the team to do as well on the varsity team next year!

Golf team? How many of your knew Euclid had a golf team. Well we did and this was their best season in the past three years. With a GCC record of 9-4-1 Euclid placed second in their division. Scott Duke (a.k.a. Dukes) led the way with a 41 average and tied for fourth at the GCC tournament. The rest of the team contributed to the successful year with averages of: Jason Straub 43, Tim Hickok (a.k.a. Gillette) 43.5, Joe Solnosky 43.8, Chris Pinta 44.1 and Tony Granito 46.5.

Tim Hickok, Chris Pinta and Tony Granito were the senior starters that will need to be replaced for next year. John Shivak had an impressive year and Tim Pae who improved drastically over the year are two of the hopeful replacements for the 1988 team.

Lack of experience causes tennis team to struggle

Entering the 1987 season with a new coach and a young team, the Euclid Girls Tennis Team approached this year as one of learning and improving. All the players made progress and enjoyed themselves too. Valerie Stupica, the team's only senior and co-captain, received her third year letter and the team's Most Valuable Player Award. She started at both first and second singles but sat out the latter part of the season due to an injury. Junior

Chris Oboczky also received her third year letter and was the other co-captain. Liz Oroz, another junior, received her second year letter. Juniors Heather Morrison, Kelly Hyne, Beth Schafer, and sophomore Jennifer Mason all received their first year letter. Kelly Hyne and Beth Schafer both were honored as Most Improved Players. Jennifer Mason also received one of the Junior Varsity Awards, as did Jennifer Petrie, who was the highlight of sectionals when she advanced to the third round. June U received her Freshman Award. Marie Sheridan, Michelle Yee, Kelly Higgins, and Karen Zwart rounded out the team. Next year, with coach Duane Foy and almost all the players returning, the Lady Panthers are looking for their best season yet.

Cross country takes second in GCC

The Girl's cross country team had another fine season. The girl's finished with a record of 8 wins, 5 losses and finished third in the GCC. At the Districts, the team just missed qualifying for the Regionals by taking 5th place. Two Freshmen, India Ford and Meredith Fitzgerald, qualified for the regionals. At the Regionals Meredith placed 24th while India took 5th place and went on to place 27th overall in the state and 2nd freshman runner in the state.

The boy's cross country team was more unified in their talents. Their record was 6 wins, 1 loss with Lee Taurman and Heath Clemence leading the pack. The team took 2nd place in the GCC and placed 3rd in the Districts. Together the guys went on to Regionals and finished up a great season.

High Scoring

Basketball team scores in triple digits in six games

The 1987-88 Varsity panthers had another winning season. They spent most of the season ranked in the top ten teams in the state and half the season as the top team in the area. Led by seniors Derek Walton, Curtis Posey and A.J. Parker, the panthers streaked to victories in their first 16 games. Walton led the team in scoring and was followed closely by A.J. Parker, who was the team's leading rebounder.

Veteran coach Doc Daugherty said that this was the most talented team he has had, and credits hard work in practice to their success. Although the panthers will lose two of their best players, they should again challenge for the conference title next year since they should return two junior starters, Ed Powers and Mike Guilfoyle.

Another Excellent Year

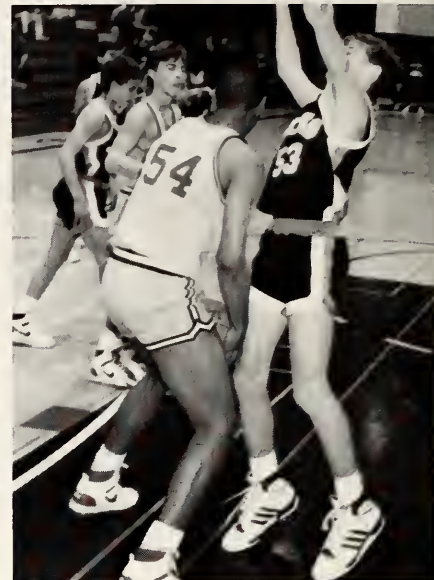

JV Basketball posts an exceptional record

Led by juniors Ed Ryans and Tyron Gilham and sophomores Terry Bush, Joe Meden, Chris Martin, Rick Smith and Patrice Ward they won their second straight conference title. Playing tough man-to-man defense the panthers harassed opponents all year long. They came close to having an undefeated season. Coach Dennis Turkall called hard work in practice the main reason for his team's success. Many of this year's players should get plenty of varsity court time next year.

Super Season

Girls' come in first in GCC with a fantastic year

The girls varsity basketball team showed an impressive season with the help of three-year starter Michelle Vencel showing off her talent at guard. Lynn Phillips, the captain of the Lady Panthers, was a well known rebounder and a great shooter. Other players such as Co-Captain Terry Sopko practically ran the offense and was an outstanding passer. Jennifer Davis, a starter this year, was a good rebounder and also impenetrable shot blocker. From the words of head coach Terry Dubroy, "We have a great group of girls, we have worked hard all season and have dedicated ourselves to being the best we can be."

Indoor Track helps athletes prepare for the outdoors

Indoor track got off on the right foot this year with several wins against teams such as Akron Buchtel, West Tech, and St. Ignatius. The team this year was ready for anything, striving to reach their goals. An impressive member of the team this year was Robert Smith who proved himself strongly as a sprinter and also in the long jump. In the area of hurdling, Donald Craig and Travis O'Hannon were regarded as an outstanding pair. Distance runners were Reggie White in the 800m and Eric Eyman in the 2-mile. Carlos Henderson and Thomas McClinton also proved they had the right stuff in the distance events. The girl's were also impressive with such runners as Jill Tomasi and Teray Terry in distance and Lisa Tirabassi and Mia Parise in hurdles. Coach Bob Ramlow said the team was composed of "Strong individuals but lacking depth".

A surge of energy at the end of the season just wasn't enough to get the panther icers into the Baron Cup. The team expected to do much better this season because of its eight returning players. Mark Blanc was the panther's starting goalie with senior Bob Gezann playing back-up. For a first year player, Bob did a great deal to help the team. Rick Wherley was at the helm this year after being assistant coach for the past two years. Assistant coach Skip Martincic came to Euclid after coaching youth hockey for many seasons. Next year's team still looks promising since there will be many returning players. This year's team consisted of three freshman, eight sophomores, two juniors and six seniors. The seniors left a legacy for the underclassmen to strive for.

Not Just Treading Water

Boy's Swim Team struggles for recognition

Up and at'em. It's 5:30, time for swim practice. This was just another normal day for the panther swimmers. The team was dominated by juniors and hopes to someday the GCC. Many newcomers helped the team but the vererans were still there swimming strong. Senior co-captain Tony Capuozzo and junior co-captain Mike LeQuyea led the panthers in the distance events along with Tom Reynolds and Dave Engelke. At the beginning of the year the panthers had practically no sprinters after losing two seniors for personal reasons. Three junior newcomers, Dominic Gubitosi, Bill Kunes and foreign exchange student, Jorge Berganza helped make the panthers one of the best sprinting teams in the conference. Backstrokers, Matt Davis, Jim Segulin and Tim Tobin were some of the best in the conference. The breaststroke was led by Dan Campbell, Joe Tressler and Tom Reynolds. Doug Mehls developed as a butterflyer.

The team didn't have any superstars but it had the potential to win. It was growing and will improve in the years to come.

The girl's swim team showed a lot of depth this year. Even with the loss of many good seniors from last year, the pantherettes were still able to hang tough. This was a year where all of the girls: freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors all contributed to their many victories.

Winter days during swim season became a routine of: swim, school, swim, homework, sleep. Starting in late November the pantherettes begin their day at 5:30 AM to get ready for their 6:00AM practice. Morning practice ends at 7:00AM and everyone goes to classes. The 2:35PM bell rings and all the swimmers are on their way back to the pool to practice another 2 hours. The days were rough, but the fun and the feeling of accomplishment that they made it through another day's workout is what kept them going.

The girl's swim team experienced an excellent season. The girls improved as the season progressed.

Need Some Help?

Sports aides are always there to help out

Who were the people behind Euclid's faabulous sports teams? They were the Sports aides! Those valuable additions to the athletic department performed many tasks that lifted the teams to victory. Those students helped out the coaches and the players by timing, keeping statistics, and wrapping sprained ankles. They also kept the team supplied with water, and they were always cheering the team on and urging them to never give up. The aides were required to attend every practice and every game. Their job was not a glamorous one, but it was one that was necessary for the teams to win. So, when you see the winning records of the football, swimming, basketball, and wrestling teams just remember that the Sports aides contributed to those thrilling triumphs.

The Senior Class

Euclid's senior class shows lots of promise

The Euclid Senior High Class of '88 was a spirited and determined group of students. From the first day of school to the last, the seniors knew that this was their year to rule, and they did just that. With the hard work and devotion of many students, 1988 proved to be a great year! The seniors excelled in many areas, including spirit, academics, and athletics.

From class competition to extra-curricular activities, the class of '88 showed their panther spirit, not just in '88, but in all four years at EHS. The class developed a togetherness in the ninth grade that lasted until commencement. Whether at sporting events, concerts, Big Show, dances, or clubs, the 1988 panthers turned out in great numbers to show their pride and their spirit in the school. The feelings of unity, friendship, and pride that developed will continue with the seniors long after they leave the halls of Euclid.

Besides having spirit, the '88 panthers also had a concern for their academic life. The senior class had three National Merit Finalists and three commended students, who are a few examples of the high academic achievements of Euclid students. The seniors worked hard for good grades and were proud of their scholastic achievements and awards. The panthers loved to party, but they also knew when to hit the books. Their academic excellence showed that they will go far in their endeavors after high school.

Last, but not least, the students of the class of 1988 proved to be worthy foes on the athletic fields. The football team went 10-0, and the volleyball and basketball teams enjoyed terrific seasons. Several players received awards for their outstanding abilities also. The class was full of talented students who excelled in athletics for EHS. The students were proud of their athletic achievements and outstanding athletes.

The memories that seniors have of their years at EHS are many, and they will all remember the good times and good friends they had at Euclid. From being a freshman on the first day of school to receiving a diploma at commencement, the seniors were a proud and talented group of students. The pride, spirit, intelligence, and skills of the class of 1988 will be long remembered at Euclid Senior High School.

PSAT, ACT, SAT, ACH, what do all these letters mean? Are they a secret code or something? Well, not exactly. Some students call them headaches, but in reality they stand for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, American College Test, Scholastic Aptitude Test, and Achievement Tests. As most juniors and seniors know, these tests are usually required for college admission. The tests (which are three agonizing hours long) are usually given on Saturday morning, and students usually leave them with massive migrains. To help improve students' scores, Mr. Yocum and the counselors hold reviews the week before each test. In these sessions students learned differant test-taking tactics and reviewed some of the most important concepts of grammar, social studies, science, and math. The students were also given the chance to take an old test to "get the feel" of it. One anonymous senior said, "The review really helped me to relax about the test. I was so worried I was going to do terrible, and the session helped me to realize it wasn't that bad."

Elfish Fundraiser

Senior elf day is a fun time for everyone

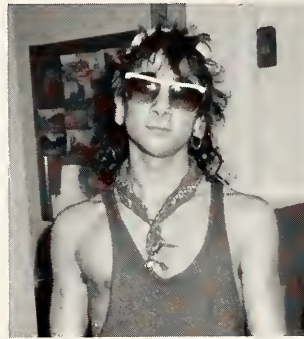

Katie Weakland shows off her elf smile.

Elf Day is a senior fundraiser sponsored by Class Cabinet. Prospective elves began by selling tickets to friends and faculty. A drawing was then held during lunch periods to choose the lucky santas. On the magical day seniors impersonated elves and catered to their santa's every need. Unfortunately, as all good things must come to an end, at the ringing of the bell at 2:35 PM all the elves were disenchanting.

How Embarrassing...

Seniors reveal their most embarrassing moments

At some time in everyone's life they have done something that they have found embarrassing. Here are some of the embarrassing moments that the seniors have chosen to share with others.

My most embarrassing moment was when:

Troy Williams was egged.

Losing to Youngstown Boardman.

When I walked around school with magic marker on my skirt and everyone just laughed.

Richard Brentar marched one way during halftime and the rest of the band marched the other.

David Gray went out for track and the girls were watching him come in so far back that the rest of the team was getting ready for the next event.

Jennifer Spinelli fell down the stairs in a dress in front of her friends and boyfriend.

When Jenny Hopkins and her friend wore the same skirt four times in a row in 9th grade and everyone claimed that they planned it that way.

I had on blue underwear with white pants.

Diane Mauser was looking at a male senior's rear and tripped up the stairs and he saw her.

Julie Sterbank got her finger caught in a milk machine.

Tina Soltesz, during track practice, fell into the boy's locker room in front of the Varsity Track team and received a standing ovation.

Love Hudson fell up the stairs in front of the seniors when she was in the 10th grade.

Julie Barcza was slammed into by a socially unacceptable friend pogoing down the hall.

Sitting on the bench during the whole game.

Jumping off the high dive in swimming and landing flat on my back.

Receiving a B+ on a test.

Falling asleep in class and having the teacher knock on the desk to wake me up.

Making a wrong turn to get to class after having gone there for four years.

Is Brian Ashley volunteering for a blood drive or is there something up there?

Eric Berry assures Ray Rhone that it won't hurt at all.

On December 8, 1987 Euclid High School took part in its annual blood drive which was sponsored by the Euclid Cultural Committee. It was organized by Ms. Carroll, Selwyn Johnson and Francine Moore. The drive went smoothly and more than 100 pints of blood were collected during the day. The blood drive gives the students an opportunity to get started on the worthwhile idea of giving blood. There is never too much blood available so the blood donated by the students and Euclid High is appreciated.

Remember When...

Students relate memories of Euclid Central

Euclid students look back at all the great times they have had at Euclid Central. Remembering the dances, sports, and teachers will always be good memories. These are some of the memories Euclid's seniors recall of their time spent at Euclid Central.

Jennifer Spinelli remembers when she won the Uncle Vic air guitar contest.

Julie Sterbank remembers when Mr. Russo's homeroom beat Mr. Petrick's homeroom in the Olympic games, the Cheerleaders protested cheering at girl's sporting events, Sandy Scott and Jack Coyne threw Jello down the stairs, Mixed Choir performed "Godspell"/"West Side Story".

Tina Soltesz remembers practicing for the cheerleading competition at Euclid Square Mall with Bonnie 'the prep' Smith.

Love Hudson remembers when everyone was in track. Yellow Jello in the Atrium Mr. Syracuse and T.G.I.M. Uncle Vic at the dances. Knocking over lab tables.

Euclid seniors remember all the unforgettable moments through their high school years. Some were good and some were bad, but high school never would have been the same without them. Here are some of the moments that some of the seniors remember.

Rich Brentar remembers when only 100 people showed up for school on that snow day.

Diane Mauser remembers when Mr. Perez-gave his very first, 'I'm not going to take any from you' speech.

Julie Barcza remembers when her metal pen exploded across the room in 9th grade biology.

Joel Stewart remembers when his chemistry experiment burned.

Love Hudson remembers Euclid beating St. Joes her freshman year.

Tina Soltesz and Chris Vubonic went to Washington, D.C. in 10th grade with Mrs. Smith just to shop.

Niccole remembers when Mr. Eversole used to fall asleep in class and she used to have water bottle fights in Mrs. Schmeling's chemistry class and when Mia's eyes looked like spiders from all her mascara.

Michele Savolainen and Chris Chinni's smile.

Vacation Plans

Euclid's seniors have plans for their spring and summer breaks

Many of Euclid's seniors have specific plans for their spring breaks.

Todd Uhlir plans to go to Florida and party his you-know-what off.

Love Hudson plans to go to Myrtle Beach.

Julie Barcza plans to travel to New York and visit Greenwich Village and watch strange and bizarre people like herself.

Sue Guip is going to Canada.

Jennifer Spinelli plans to go to California with friends.

Other's plans include:

Do a little skiing and a lot of sleeping.

Going to Florida to meet my pen pal I've been writing to for 9 years.

Go to Napa Valley, California and soak up the sights and the sun.

Go to Atlantic City and enjoy the sun and my vacation and also to see some girls.

Sleep, party and more sleep.

Going to Columbus.

Jammin.

Seniors had many activities planned for the summer break.

Jenny Pocaro plans to sun, fun and work.

Tina Soltesz plans to party, work on a dark tropical tan, spend money, shop and party some more with friends.

Julie Sterbank plans to be a life guard and volunteer at the hospital until going away to school.

Rich Brentar plans to go to Europe.

Julie Barcza is hoping to go back to Europe and explore every little brick-paved alley.

Beth Hammer plans to work, go to England as a graduation present.

Love Hudson is going to Manhattan.

Jennifer Spinelli is going to get a tan, party and sleep.

Matt Ballish wants to play racquetball, go climbing, sailing, and diving.

Denny Coy wants to go on a long vacation.

Chris Chinni is hoping to go to England.

Susan Knistautas is going to work full time and going to enjoy the last of her youthful laziness.

In general everyone plans to work and have fun.

Audio Visual Attractions

Seniors rate their favorite movies/books

Pat Vihtelic learning in the library.

Jennifer Spinelli preparing for a test.

The class of '88 enjoyed their time off from hard work and studying by relaxing, going out to the movies with some friends, and by spending time alone with a good book. Some of the senior's favorite movies were "Fatal Attraction", "Top Gun", "The Untouchables", "Platoon", and "Back to the Future". As far as books go, favorite novels were The Catcher in the Rye, The Outsiders, The Invisible Man, A Tale of Two Cities, and Wuthering Heights. Whether alone or with friends, the seniors at Euclid knew when to forget their homework and just relax when the weekend rolled around.

-Katie Weakland

Tina Soltesz learning from books.

All these seniors would probably love to be at a movie right now.

And In The Future...

Seniors tell about plans for the future and Prom

The seniors were asked what their plans were for their most memorable night of 1988, and here are some of their responses.

Tina Soltesz is going with her special insignificant other, in the gown she's had picked out since 9th grade and drive a black Jaguar.

Julie Sterbank is going to let herself go and have a wonderful, unforgettable time.

Todd Uhlir is going to get a limo, go to prom and Afterprom.

Jennifer Spinelli is going to fly there in a jet, have a great time and party all night.

Shawn Kobus is going to have a great time with all her friends and go to Niagara Falls after Afterprom.

Kimmy Brown is going to look sweet and have a tremendous time with her good looking date.

The rest of the class said they wanted to have the time of their lives and that they will always remember and spend time with all their friends before commencement.

-Katie Weakland

Seniors have to eat too.

The seniors were polled on their future plans and here are some ideas of where they hope to be in 1998.

Tina Soltesz will be a yuppie driving a black Jaguar, living in Vermont and planning a family vacation with Tina Ilc to Disneyland.

Diane Mauser will be sitting on a yacht on the coast of Jamaica sipping champagne and spending the money she'll be making on her chain of beauty salons.

Rich Brentar will be a professional musician.

Julie Sterbank will be practicing psychology at a prominent children's hospital.

Joel Stewart will be wishing he was safe back in school.

Tina Ilc will be living next door to Tina Soltesz in Vermont complaining about something or other.

Susan Knistautas will be rich and famous and a rocket scientist for NASA.

Jennifer Spinelli will hopefully be wealthy, happy, living somewhere warm and driving a Porsche.

Kimmy Brown will be broadcasting news on a NYC TV station and living very rich.

Matt Ballish will be sailing around the world on the Calypso and exploring the depths of the ocean.

Denny Coy will be living in Kenya with the bushmen and eating roots.

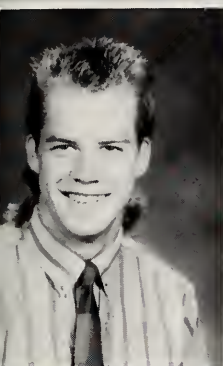

Katie Weakland will be married to Bob, have twins, and studying whales in New England.

Love Hudson will be a lawyer.

The results are in, and the class of 1988's favorite teacher turned out to be our former unit principal-Mr. Bender. Close behind were Mr. Raicevich and Mrs. McLaughlin who tied for second. Other favorite instructors were Mr. Pawlowski, Mr. Godfrey, Mrs. Zubizarreta and Mr. Burns. 'Von', 'Biff' Wensing, Miss Bambic and Mr. Reno were also mentioned as favorite teachers by the seniors. Government was voted the favorite class by the seniors by an overwhelming majority. English was a close second, and AP biology, physics, and foods came in third. Photography, astronomy, and math were other favorites, too. All in all, most seniors could choose their favorite teachers, but when it came to classes, 'lunch' surpassed everything else!

High school was just the beginning of education for many of Euclid High School's graduates. Many of them planned to go on to college since it has been shown that the average college graduate earns a better salary than one who has not graduated from college. High school is the end of public education and, therefore, money becomes a major consideration when applying to colleges. Here are some of the colleges that the class of '88 plans on attending.

Susan Knistautas plans on attending Kent and major in telecommunications.

Tina Smith plans to be an early childhood teacher.

Matt Ballish plans to go to college to major in photography.

Jennifer Spinelli plans to go to OSU with her best friend, Kim Brown.

Katie Weakland plans to attend OSU and major in zoology and then become a ceteologist and writer.

Adam Stauffer plans on attending Brown University, then Harvard MBA, get rich, married, etc.

Julie Barcza plans to attend a good are school(like Parsons School of Design) and spend her junior year abroad.

Joel Stewart plans to go to JCU and major in aerospace dynamics.

Liz Kuhen plans to go to Kent State.

Shawn Kobus plans on attending OSU and majoring in veterinery medicine.

Nicolle plans to become either a lawyer or an officer in the Air Force.

Remember when we..." is a phrase that has been used by people for all time. Memories are what life is made of. Sometimes the only reason for doing something is for the memories that it leaves. The only thing that is left after an event has happened are the memories. Euclid students have had many memorable moments. Here are some of the memorable moments that Euclid students share.

Susie Guip remembers Prom aid

Richard Brentar remembers going to NYC with Stage Band his freshman year.

Julie Barcza remembers her AFX experience abroad to the Netherlands in the summer of '87.

Katie Weakland remembers slow dances at Winterfest 1986 and 1988.

Todd Uhler remembers going to school on Halloween as the Fat Boys and winning first place.

Denny Coy will always remember all the friends he has made at EHS.

Kimmy Brown remembers almost failing chemistry but having Natasha Spencer as her lab partner.

Tina Smith will always remember getting into 12th grade.

Susan Knistautas remembers decking Adam Stauffer with a book in English in 11th grade because he was bothering her.

Nicolle remembers having Ketan Patel as a 'locker buddy' for the past four years and Homecoming her junior year with the best guy in the world.

Shawn Kobus remembers Key Club District Convention 1985, '86, '87.

I hope Matt Lunder sees something pretty in there.

I Admire...

Euclid students have many different heros

Through your lives various people have come to influence you. The seniors through the past four years have had friends, parents, counselors and teachers shape and direct their lives. Many of the heros were just ordinary people but others were extraordinary people such as actors and actresses, music artists and TV personalities.

Although seniors have had a vast number of people shape their lives there were only a few that greatly stood out. They were looked up to with admiration because they provided great insights to everyone. Everyone has had someone that he or she has admired at some time during their life. Here are a few of the people that some seniors admire.

Tina Soltesz admires Tina Ilc for her friendship, patience and commitment to her and the unmentionable insignificant other.

Tina Ilc admires Mr. Raicevich.

Todd Uhlir admires John Wayne.

Katie Weakland admires all the astronauts who died on the Challenger.

Julie Sterbank admires her parents.

Rich Brentar admires Peter Cetera.

Joel Stewart admires Mr. Von Benken.

Love Hudson admires Oprah Winfrey.

Diane Mauser admires Miss B. for listening to all of us and not telling where to shove it half the time.

Adam Stauffer admires Big Red McLaughlin.

Anonymous students mentioned admiring Bob Geldof, Mrs. Fette, since she really knows what's going on here at Euclid and she's a super friend and wishes that there were more people like her, and 'Bif' Wensing.

Cleveland is the home of the Rock-n-Roll Hall of Fame and no one knew this better than the class of 1988. The seniors loved to rock and their favorite radio stations were WMMS, WRQC, WLTF WMJI and WPHR. Seniors also enjoyed travelling to concerts to see such rock performers as Burce Springsteen, U2, and White Snake at the stadium and Public Hall. Favorite rock groups included Van Halen, U2, Prince, Genesis, Chicago, and Bon Jovi. All in All the class of '88 showed that the rock does stop here...in Cleveland.

Euclid On Display

Open House shows parents our fine school

Open House for the 1987-88 school year was differently planned than in previous years. It was held on November 16th and 17th, and on February 4th and 5th. In previous years parents followed their student's schedules which made it a problem for parents with more than one child at Euclid. This year both of the sessions were parent-teacher conferences in which the parent got a chance to talk directly with each of their children's teachers. The first of the two day conference times were held in the evening and the second day was held in the morning. The parents first picked up their children's grades and then could move around to the different areas where the teachers were located and talk with them. If one of the teachers was busy then they could go to another and come back at another time. It made for a much less confused situation since the teachers were located in a relatively few places so the parents did not have to travel all over the building trying to follow a schedule. Most people agreed that the new format was much easier to follow.

Look Up To Cleveland was a new program that was devised to develop the student leaders of tomorrow and to foster community involvement in young adults. This year Euclid High School's representative to this selective program was Helen Chen. Last year the representative was Adam Stauffer.

In order to participate in this program an extensive application had to be filled out. The top forty applicants from Cuyahoga county schools were then chosen. The applicants then met with and learned from prominent professionals from the Cleveland area.

The goal of the program was to complete a civic vision project for the year 2000. The vision included a system for community development and was presented to the city planners in May. After the program was done, it really wasn't over since the alumni are scheduled to meet yearly to discuss the city's progress.

Last year was the first year for this program and it seemed to be a great success. It is hoped that the continuation of the program will promote the development of Cleveland.

Juniors Striving for Class

Being a Junior is a fun thing to be. You are well established in the school and you now know where most of the classrooms are and how to get to a bathroom(s) that is open without having an accident. Juniors can look forward to being a Senior the following year. Many Juniors have jobs and, therefore, have a source of income to use for many of their needs. Juniors are people who are in the process of becoming adults and getting prepared for later life. Being a Junior is a nice time of life.

Russia vs. the U. S. A?

Here in the United States we all know we have good 'ole Ronald Reagan fighting for us. But what about overseas in Russia? What's their leader like?

Mikhail Gorbachev, he's a new kind of Soviet leader. He's relatively young and open minded to new ways and ideas. He's the first Soviet leader since Lenin to have a university education. He likes the ideas of restructuring, openness, and democratization. By openness he means; more freedom of the press, less censorship, and letting the Soviet people start to learn about us just like we are learning about them. However, Soviet democratization is completely different from our Western ways. Even though, the Soviet people are getting a small voice in thier government. Are they really against us or do they want to end the arms race as much as we do?

We're not sure what the answer to this question is, but, there does seem to be hope for a brighter future. Yes, there have been talks and it does look like we're all going to get rid of the medium range nuclear missles. This would be a big step in ending the arms race.

Almost Strike Out

School's start delayed because of late contract approval

This was a unique year for the teacher's contract negotiations. Though traditional in the sense that negotiations were not settled until the last minute, this was the first year in Euclid's history that the teachers has missed any school.

An ETA (Euclid Teacher's Association) representative said teachers' contracts are usually negotiated every two years. It has become tradition that these negotiations are settled early in the morning of the opening day of school. Only once in recent history were negotiations settled during summer break.

Euclid teachers used to be one of the highest paid in the state. Yet after past negotiations the raises have lost in relation to other school districts. It once was that Euclid was the place to be. Now it was becoming a place to be from. This year the teachers decided that it had gone far enough. They did not want to strike but were concerned about the erosion of the base pay in relation to other districts and the ability to attract top quality new teachers.

They negotiated until early morning of the first day of school until accord was finally reached on issues such as base pay, defined class size, payment for extra duty assignments, and many other issues. No strike actually occurred, yet because of the problem created by the late negotiations there was confusion as to whether the teachers should report or not. Because of that, school was postponed until the next day. This only amounted to the loss of fifteen minutes of class for most students. Compared to some other school districts which were on strike for much longer periods of time Euclid came out well

Lock It Up

New locks help keep it that way

Euclid High School, just like any other heavily populated high school, is highly prone to vandalism and theft. Due to this rising problem, the Euclid Administration seems to have found a very effective way to discourage would-be thieves. They have invested in a large amount of a heavy duty lock that is much more difficult to open than the traditional, good 'ole Master locks.

This advanced combination lock features a special "dead-bolt" device and a thicker structure. This dead bolt device consists of a special pin which holds the shackle in place, making entry much more difficult. Yes, for a mere six dollars, you could purchase this lock which is practically impossible to open even if you do know the combination.

A complicated series of twists and turns to about five different numbers is the way you open this lock. When you first buy your dead-bolt lock, however, don't make the mistake of asking the whole school to first open it for you. This is a good way to have your combination spread through the school. Then, your dead-bolt device will be as effective as a paperclip on your locker.

This new lock should be very helpful in protecting our home away from home; our lockers.

No St. Joe's Game

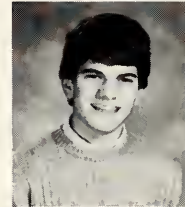

Why was the St. Joe's game cancelled? That's a question we'd all like an answer to.

The Joe's game was always a good game no matter who won or lost. It was a time to show who you supported more, Euclid or the forever rival St. Joseph. The feelings were mixed, some people just hated Joes and then there were those who would show up at Euclid in Joe's school colors.

The reason the games were postponed was because there were too many fights after the game. No one ever knows who starts them but people were always getting hurt.

Well here's something to look forward to. The games will be back and maybe then there will be less animosity between the schools so that the only battling going on will be on the field.

Freshmen are very concerned about how they look. Most freshmen woke up in the morning and had to make the decision about what to wear to school. There was no easy answer to that problem, but many freshmen wound up with their own correct answers. One answer for the girls was to wear denim mini skirts with any kind of top. Another one was to wear leggings with an oversized top. One more was to roll up the bottom of their pants. Guys had different styles of haircuts which were either spiked, shaved on the sides or their hair dyed. Both guys and girls wore acid-washed jeans that came in blue, black, green, purple, or yellow. Girls wore their hair up in either a bow, scrunchie, or a banana clip. It was also "cool" to wear sweatshirts inside-out.

Every freshmen had their own style. The freshmen of E.H.S. wore what they wanted whether "in" or "out".

SSS- Sleep, Study, or Stare. These are the only choices you have, there will be no eating, talking, moving, or breathing! Is that clear? "

Yes, you guessed it, it is the voice of the god, ruler, dictator and monitor of your study hall. Thanks to Mr. Perez, study halls became pits of terror and oppression. God forbid, the students have fun! (What is "fun" by the way?)

This year there was also another change in study halls. Seniors and juniors, who traditionally had study halls in the cafeteria were moved to the E-room, and sophmores and freshmen took over the cafeteria. Most seniors didn't like the idea, but unrest turned to calm when pop and juice machines were put in the E-room for them. Other studints preferred going to the library.

In May '87 the student dress code outlawed shorts that did not "approach the knee". Most students, however, chose to ignore this unenforceable and unjust law. Some referred to it as "civil disobedience". The administrators, on the other hand, responded by sending the rule breakers home, but after a while this became a problem because too many students were wearing shorts and no one seemed to be able to explain what "approach the knee" meant. Consequently, the school allowed us to wear shorts until the end of the year. Over the summer Mr. McGuinness, the school system's discipline committee, and the Student Council met and finally agreed that students are allowed to wear shorts, culottes, and jams during warm weather, as long as they were not "disruptive to the educational process or inappropriate for a school setting". So, the administrators and the students rejoiced, and as one junior put it "We have overcome and retained our right to free dress".

Security here at Euclid High is a major concern for our administration. The school, being as large as it is, is hard to patrol for just one person. A fight or an emergency can come up at any time, and one person is going to have a rough time handling the situation solo.

For years now, our school has tried and tried to solve this problem by getting walkie talkies for each person who patrols the hallways. This year, the administration's wish came true. Each unit principal and security man received a walkie talkie to communicate with each other in case of a problem. Help is just a button push away should trouble arise during lunch or in the hallways.

So should you see Mr. Perez or Mr. McGuinness using a walkie talkie during a pep rally or in the cafeteria, you now know they are doing more than just playing G.I. Joe. They are making Euclid a safer high school to be in.

LOOKING BACK

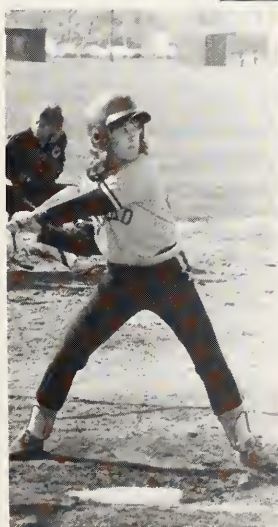

Memories From Last Year

Last year we did not charge enough and were thus unable to publish a supplement to the yearbook. We had lots of pictures of Spring events which we are printing in this book.

Thank You

The staff of the Euclidian would like to extend thanks to all who helped to make this book possible. First and foremost thanks go to our advisor, Mr. Von Benken for the many long hours of hard work and leadership that he put in and to Miss. Black our other advisor. Others to be thanked are: Raimor Studios for processing and printing our photographs, Jostens Yearbook Company for putting it all together, the writers and photographers who contributed their time, and last but not least the entire student body of Euclid High School without which this book could not exist.

Colophon

770 copies of the 1988 Euclidian were printed by the Jostens Printing and Publishing Division at State College, Pennsylvania. The book is printed on Gloss 191 paper stock and includes 8 pages of natural color and 8 pages of spot color. Souvenir type is used throughout the book with body copy set in ten point size and caption copy set in eight point size. The cover design was done by senior Julie Barcza. The final deadline to insure on-time delivery was February 22, 1988.

Regrets

Euclid High School was full of a great variety of interests and personalities in 1988. The Euclidian Staff has attempted to depict everyone to the best of its ability. Unfortunately, very few people actually helped to put the book together. Though the names were numerous, only a few dedicated individuals did the work. This is especially true with the copy and photography staff where people contributed very little time. The Euclidian also regrets that some seniors are not pictured because they never bothered to have their picture taken at Raimor Studios. The Euclidian office was often a place of much activity and conversation, unfortunately not much work was accomplished and as a result, the compiling of the book rested on a few shoulders. The staff regrets any errors or omissions that may have been made. Anyone wishing to work on the 1989 yearbook would be welcome.
